

Education and Health

Please consider becoming a contributor...

Education and Health was first published in 1983 and is now an open access online journal.

Readers are concerned with the healthy development of young people. In the UK, the readership come from a broad background and include: primary, secondary and further education teachers, university staff, and health-care professionals working in education and health settings.

Articles from 1983 are available on the Internet and are regularly accessed from around the world.

Articles focus on recent health education initiatives, relevant research findings, materials and strategies for education and health-related behaviour data.

We are looking for new contributors and articles can range from 500 – 3000 words including Harvard-style references.

Please consider becoming a contributor and also ask colleagues.

Contact David McGeorge for further details.

Best wishes

David McGeorge
Editor

Education and Health

Published by SHEU since 1983

Volume 28 Number 1, 2010

ISSN 0265-1602

Media and advertising influences on adolescent risk behaviour
Mark D. Griffiths

Teach Your Children Well
Michael Rich

Street-wise? Substance use in town and country as reported by young people
David Regis

Homophobic Bullying in Irish Education
James O'Higgins-Norman

The development of a comprehensive sexual health education for Western Muslim youth
Fida Sanjaddar

Children and their pets: Exploring the relationships between ownership, attitudes, attachment and empathy
Joanne M. Williams, Janine Muldoon and Alistair Lawrence

Why educating learners in health and wellbeing is so important
Paul Curry

Healthy FE : Barnsley College
Polly Harrow

That's what he said: What guys think about sex, love, contraception and relationships
The National Campaign to Prevent Teen and Unplanned Pregnancy

Education and Health was first published in 1983, by the Schools Health Education Unit, an independent organisation providing research, survey and publishing services to those concerned with the health and social development of young people.

Recent articles

- Online computer gaming: Advice for parents and teachers
- Young men and pornography: Meeting the challenge through Sex and Relationships Education
- Moral reasoning development and classroom discipline
- If young people 'get it on' can we lower the teenage conception rate?
- Improving Emotional Health and Wellbeing through peer support
- Sex, love and one-night stands: getting the relationship you want"
- Adolescent gambling-like experiences: Are they a cause for concern?
- Personal, social, and health education in changing times; a view from Ofsted
- Drug testing in Australian schools: evidence, impacts and alternatives
- The Physical Activity Signposting Scheme
- Discussing Lifestyle Behaviours with Obese Children
- Developing a Successful Physical Activity Intervention in Primary Schools
- Social Norms and health promotion
- Providing healthy environments should be on the agenda for FE colleges
- The school as a location for the promotion and support of mental health
- Sports Days, Competition and Self-esteem
- Healthy Schools Pupil Progression
- The sexual health of young people
- Finding ways to improve the health of young people

- Researching teachers' experiences
- The Mental Health & Well-being of Learners aged 14-19
- Experiences of young people with different sexual or gender identity
- Condom use and the missing discourse of desire: the view from the girls
- SEAL of A.P. approval
- Guernsey's young people: Two decades of health-related behaviour surveys